Dear Dr. Song-Keun Shin,

Thank you for the invitation to attend the February 25, 2011 press conference celebrating your many remarkable accomplishments, and in particular, the discovery of the Shin sort sorting method. I appreciate you taking the time to write and am honoured by your kind offer.

Regretfully, I must decline your invitation. I would however, like to wish you much success with this event. I read over the documents that you provided and I am sure this will be both a stimulating and high-profile conference.

With regards to your Shin sort theory and claim, the University of Ottawa is currently not in a position to offer you our endorsement. As such, we would ask that you not include the University among your list of supporters.

Thank you once again for this kind invitation, and for your understanding. I wish you much success with this event.

Sincerely,

Allan Rock
President and Vice-Chancellor

Greetings:

Recently your letter dated January 14, 2011, was forwarded to my office. Because my area of research does not pertain to your claims regarding the efficiency of your search algorithms, I have no basis upon which to judge them. Based on your letter of February 4, 1997, to Vice President Gore, I assume that you have corresponded with Donald Knuth about your research. Dr. Knuth is certainly considered one of the leading experts in the field of computer science. I concur with his recommendation that you seek out advice from colleagues familiar with your discipline. It is the accepted custom within the mathematical and computing community for researchers to submit their work to peer-reviewed journals for consideration. If you have not already done so, I suggest that you submit your work to one of the ACM, IEEE or SIAM journals.

Please note that by this correspondence you are expressly forbidden from indicating anywhere in print or electronic media that Marietta College offers its support to you in your endeavors to be viewed as a leader in your field.

Sincerely,

Mark A. Miller, Ph.D., Chair
Department of Mathematics, Computing & Information Systems

Dear Dr. Shin,

President Powers asked me to thank you for your letter of January 14th, and for inviting him to the press conference in Seoul on 25 February. President Powers regrets that his schedule simply does not allow him to attend. The Texas Legislature—which is in session for only five months every other year—began its session two weeks ago, and it is imperative that the president be available to work with the legislators at that time. This urgent need is in addition to his already crowded administrative schedule during the Spring semester. He hopes you will understand.

Dear Dr Shin

Thank you for your letter of 29 November 2010 to the Prime Minister regarding your concert and press conference in Seoul. I have been asked to reply on the Prime Minister's behalf and apologise for the delay in responding.

I regret that the Prime Minister will not be in Korea on 25 February and is unable to attend.

I wish you every success with your future work and preparation for the upcoming press conference.

Dear Dr.Dong –Keun Shin,

This is to acknowledge your letter of January 6,2011. We have noted with great interest your claim to be the world's greatest computer scientist. We wish to support your claim and hope that international recognition for you will come about sooner than later. We have noted details of your claim and have circulated it as a news story in Pakistani newspapers and other media while we shall be printing it in our magazine, Pictorial News Review and send a copy by airmail to your office.

We wish that you open in Pakistan your office and we shall be very happy to assist you in case you wish to open an office here.

Looking forward to hear from you.

Yours faithfully,
