Dear Dr. Song-Keun Shin,

Thank you for the invitation to attend the February 25, 2011 press conference celebrating your many remarkable accomplishments, and in particular, the discovery of the Shin sort sorting method. I appreciate you taking the time to write and am honoured by your kind offer.

Regretfully, I must decline your invitation. I would however, like to wish you much success with this event. I read over the documents that you provided and I am sure this will be both a stimulating and high-profile conference.

With regards to your Shin sort theory and claim, the University of Ottawa is currently not in a position to offer you our endorsement. As such, we would ask that you not include the University among your list of supporters.

Thank you once again for this kind invitation, and for your understanding. I wish you much success with this event.

Sincerely,

Dear Dr. Shin

It is with great pleasure that I write you on behalf of the President of the Republic of Chile, H.E. Sebastian Piñera, concerning the invitation for the concert and press conference to be held in Seoul on February 25th, 2011.

Unfortunately, H.E. the President of Chile, regrets not to be able to attend this event, due to the need to stay in Chile for governmental reasons.

At the same time, I would like to convey a sincerely congratulation you for your scientific works in computer science, namely your discoveries.

With my very best regards,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. Shin:

Thank you for your letter of January 14 and various enclosures, sent as a challenge to refute the assertion that you have made the greatest contribution to computer science. I will not comment on the accuracy of your theories, but, let me emphasize, this does not imply my agreement with either your theories or your belief that you have made the greatest contribution to computer science.

Dear Dr. Dong-Keun Shin,

CONTRIBUTIONS TO COMPUTER SCIENCE

With reference to the above captioned matter in your correspondence of 29th November, 2010, I have been directed to convey to you our congratulations, support and our interest in Shin Sort. This Office would like to know exactly what type of support you want from us.

Meanwhile, we have forwarded your research theory in sorting to the University of The Gambia for their perusal and comments. Their comments or observations would be sent to you as soon as they are received by us.

I have been directed to convey to you that due to prior commitment and a very busy schedule, His Excellency will not be able to attend in person but would be represented by two officials, one Minister and possibly the Vice Chancellor of The University of The Gambia.

While wishing you all the best of luck, please accept the assurances of our highest considerations.
